

Privacy Statement

Personal details

You may visit our website without informing us of who you are and without having to provide us with your personal details. It is however possible that we will ask for your details for specific reasons, for example to provide information which you have requested from us. In order to meet your request and to keep you informed at some later point in time about relevant developments involving MeduProf-S and its brands, we will store your details in our database. If you indicate that you do not wish us to use these details as a basis for further contact, we will respect your wishes. We furthermore declare that we will not pass on your details to third parties without your explicit prior consent.

Security and quality of information

It is our intention to safeguard the quality and integrity of the personal details. We have hence implemented technical and management procedures in order to ensure that the information is kept up-to-date, accurate and complete. We will respond to users who ask to have their personal details modified or removed as quickly as possible.

Links to other sites

Our website contains links to other website. MeduProf-S is not responsible for the contents of such other website or for the protection of privacy on those website.

Amendments

MeduProf-S reserves the right to amend this Privacy Statement at any time with immediate effect and without prior notification. Amendments will be announced on the site.